

Thank you for your purchase of WaterDog Adventure Gear®!

We try hard to provide as much information on our website as possible to avoid any surprises or disappointment with your purchase. However, if after receiving the product you find it is not what you expected, it can be returned in accordance with the following return policy published on the FAQs page of our website:

WaterDog Adventure Gear® Return Policy

If returned clean, undamaged and unused with all documentation and packaging within 30 days from date of purchase, the purchase price will be refunded on any WaterDog Adventure Gear product. Please note, once the product touches the water, it is considered used and is not returnable. Prior to returning, please contact us for a Return Authorization Number (RAN). Items returned without a RAN will not be accepted.

Below is an address label for you to use. You can use the shipping carrier you prefer, but you will want to repackage the product as you received it and insure it in the event of damage during shipment. All products will be inspected upon receipt prior to issuing a refund.
